For this last week, we continued to put a heavy focus on our Airline proof of concept. You can read more on the proposal for it here in our Github. The proposed idea is to be a functional and simple proof of concept; a first step that can be used with little effort but that one could build on in the future if they wanted to.

Considering this we have chosen to utilize a great deal of our existing hotel infrastructure for our airline infrastructure. This is to make working with airlines and hotels similar so as to capitalize on existing framework already created for our hotel architecture.

Thank you for your continued support and patience! If you have any questions, join our Telegram, any technical discussion should go to our Google Group. If you want to contribute, a good place to start is our GitHub.
