Education is the key

That is one of the main insights from the community event we held in Amsterdam at Devconnect. We saw a huge gap between the hospitality community and blockchain technologies. Which is absolutely obvious. People who run hotels do have a lot of things to do and manage.

Therefore our focus at Web 3.0 conferences was slightly shifted from blockchain communities to hoteliers and accommodation providers. The faster we onboard, educate, and let them adopt the technology we have been developing, the faster our decentralized market will grow.

At least this is what we've seen and heard from the community.

Hospitalidad Emprendedora

Therefore at ETHBarcelona our team partnered with Hospitalidad Emprendedora. Albert and Gian Franco are Web 3.0 influencers, who preach blockchain as a technology that can help local brands in the hospitality industry avoid huge commissions paid to centralized providers, systems, and other intermediaries.

Building the network

Common values and vision that Hospitalidad Emprendedora and WIN have helped us to build bonds and organize an event for hoteliers in Barcelona. It took place in the Gallery Hotel. One of the hotels that agreed to experiment with crypto bookings at win.barcelona

Big show up to the team!

The workshop included:

- Intro to Web 3.0: create your first digital wallet;
- POAPs strategy as an easy way to use Web 3.0 technology today;
- WIN Dapp as a decentralized booking platform;
- Q&A;
- Networking.

Explorins

With help of our other new friends from Explorins from Barcelona, all the parts of the presentation were tightly knitted with examples and strategies. The mission of Explorins is to connect local culture and brands by means of technologies and AR in particular.

Together with Angela and Daniel, we developed a touristic route for ETHBarcelona attendees with 5 stops, where one could discover the city, and learn the history of the places and the values of the WIN brand.

Panot

When we say support local brands, we mean it. Another great connection and friendship we made is the local digital artist Panot. He is paving tiles for Metaverse. Together we created a beautiful POAP for 99 explorers who are the first to complete the travel AR experience.

As far as I know, there are some more tokens left. So if you are in Barcelona or plan to travel any time soon, feel free to download the app and explore.

Listen-try-execute

That was our strategy for hoteliers: let them learn, touch, and see the perspective for their businesses. Attendees had a chance to set up their first digital wallets and claim their first NFTs (POAPs).

These POAPs will be used in our future educational programs and community calls. We plan to have a Zoom call at the end of July with accommodation providers from Barcelona in order to see if and how far they moved with blockchain technology.

WIN

Vincent — the head of partnership in Winding Tree, presented our project in an easy way, avoiding slang and complicated notions. That is another step toward the people out of the crypto and blockchain community not only WIN has to make, but all other communities dreaming of the mass adoption of the technology.

The language we use should be clear and attractive — another challenge that we saw and accepted.

Sum up

The event WIN and Hospitalidad Emprendedora organized in Barcelona during ETHBarcelona conference was an important step to educating and onboarding businesses into Web 3.0 This is a challenging process and thanks to the new connections that we've built it becomes more and more achievable.

BTW you if you are interested, you can join the educational program today!

With huge gratitude to all partners, guests, and supporters. Vladimir, Vincent, and the WIN (Winding Tree) team
